GERMANY WILL FILE NUMEROUS OBJECTIONS TO EXPERTS' REPORT

Filing of Definite Reparations
Total Needs List in Berlin Discussion.

WANTS TROOPS REMOVED

All Sums Named in Report of General
Davies and Co-Workers Should Be Reduced, Is Stand; Washington Confidence France Will Accept.

By United Press.

BERLIN, April 10.—Germany was today giving reasons why the Davies report should not be accepted. Three main objections were voiced in a government circular which was sent to all German consuls.

1.—A definite total reparations sum should be fixed, so that Germany might have a mark to shoot at.

2.—France and Belgium should be requested to take their troops out of the Rhin.

3.—Practically all the sums demanded should be reduced.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—With strong objections certain to be made to the Davies report stands better than an even chance to effect a final settlement of the reparations problem, official diplomatic Washington believed today.

The principal objection expected is that the report does not recommend a definite total reparations figure, a fact to which Germany is already objecting.

Reparations the Reich is now under obligation to pay total $120,000,000,000 gold marks.

An effort may be made to make it appear that under the proposition of Secretary of State Hughes, which brought about the Davies inquiry, the experts were obliged to set a total figure.

The reason the report did not deal with a total sum is that General Davies found at the start that to try to fix a total would wreck the inquiry. The total indemnity that Germany must meet, even if the Davies plan is accepted, may be worked out in a European economic conference called to put the experts' report into effect, or might result from a satisfactory execution by Germany of her obligations under the plan over a period of years.

France probably will approve the Davies plan as it understood that the Potsdam government of August 1918, when the Morgenthau $100,000,000 loan to accept the report. The government of Great Britain also is expected to give its approval. The action of Germany is still in doubt.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of Milton L. Bishop, Port of the American Legion Memorial Day was discussed and the following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, for many years, under the splendid membership of the Grand Army of the Republic, the 30th day of May has been dedicated as a memorial to the soldier dead of our nation; and

"Whereas, this day commemorates the sacrifices of those who laid their all upon the altar of patriotism, should be observed with a dignity befitting its purpose and the American Legion of the Department of Pennsylvania, in executive session assembled, that all patriotic citizens of the Commonwealth and all civic, social, fraternal and business organizations thereof, be invited and urged to assist in a proper observance of Memorial Day and refrain from celebrations which detract from the memory of our soldier dead."

Stinnes Believed To Be Near Death

BERLIN, April 10.—Hugo Stinnes, fighting for life, survived the night. The German money magnate, who is believed dying, after successive gallstone operations, was believed yesterday to be near death.

The city passed another quiet night, no arrests being made and there was no police court this morning.

Mrs. L. J. Crider Ill.

Mrs. L. J. Crider of Sumner, formerly of Connellsville, is critically ill at the hospital.

PROPERTY OWNER'S VIEW OF THE CITY'S PARKING REGULATIONS

The following communication to the editor of The Courier relating to the parking situation in the city presents the view of at least one property owner as to the present regulations, and offers some suggestions as to changes in the interest of this class of citizens:

"The articles in The Courier regarding automobile traffic rules very ably set forth one side of the matter, but there is another side which I have not seen considered. 'Who pays for the financial expenses of running the city government?' The taxpayers. Who pays for the street pavement? The taxpayers. The inducement generally held out for street paving (which costs from $5 to $7.50 per foot front, and sewer connection extra) is that it will improve the appearance of the street. Does it for those real estate owners who live in central locations and have the appearance of their street ruined by a line of automobiles in front of their property?"

"The country people seem to think if they have paid a license tax they have done all that is required of them, and persistently park directly opposite your front door and the tradesman's entrance, barring egress to and from the landowner's property. When politely requested to regard the landowner's rights many of them are disagreeable and some abusive."

"I know of a large vacant lot, equipped with electric lights, centrally located, which offered parking facilities for 25 cents a night last summer, but the country people would not pay it, and kept on parking in the street where they could do it for nothing. Many of the automobiles stay in town late, and have engine trouble in starting, so that the sleep of property owners is disturbed, particularly on Saturdays and Sundays. 'I believe in helping the merchants and recognizing that indirectly the trade of the country people helps the city, but as the merchants get the most benefit I think they should come forward and provide a free parking place, or pay greater taxes. Further, there should be a law prohibiting the parking of automobiles opposite front doors and tradesman's entrances. Also, a law prohibiting the continual use of one street for the purpose of parking, so as to distribute the nuisance over a larger area. To permit continual parking on the few streets near the business section and the bridge is placing an unjust burden on real estate owners in that locality."

Domestic science experts say, "Cream of Tartar baking powder is the best"

Recently a representative group of Domestic Science experts in all parts of the country was asked "which type of baking powder do you use and prefer?" 83% unhesitatingly replied "Cream of Tartar." An overwhelming sentiment in favor of cream of tartar for perfect baking.

Cream of tartar was one of the first leavening agents to be used in baking. For years the best cooks insisted on cream of tartar for perfect cakes, biscuits and other baked foods. Then came Royal Baking Powder, in which are perfectly blended soda and pure cream of tartar derived from grapes grown in the famous vineyards of Southern Europe. For 50 years Royal Baking Powder has been used by the housewives of America for successful baking.

Democrats Delay Senate Action on Soldier Bonus

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Democrats on the Senate Finance Committee today obtained a delay in consideration of the bonus bill which may forestall efforts of Republicans to amend it to have it taken up by the Senate before the tax bill. Pleading that they needed time to study the measure, the Democrats asked and obtained a postponement of the committee's action on the measure until Saturday. While the bill may be reported again and be placed ahead of the tax bill, Democrats inclined to protest against such a move.

Rhonda Chorus,
Dr. Edie Hits at Luncheon of Clubs

The main object of the joint luncheon of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs today—that of giving proof of the cordiality in their relations to each other and their willingness to cooperate when such action is desirable or necessary—was but one of the notable features of the function.

Two other noteworthy features made by the Rhonda Welsh Male Chorus which provided the musical part of the program, and the address of Dr. E. B. Edie, on "The Ethics of Kiwanis."

The members of Kiwanis were the guests of the Rotary club, officers of the latter being in charge of the affair, which is the first of the kind to be held in Connelleville. Dr. J. L. Cochran, president of Rotary, presided.

In all the Rhonda Chorus rendered five selections, each of which was received with every evidence of sincere appreciation by the persons present, and indicating that the full program to be given at the High School Auditorium tonight will be one of the richest musical treats Connelleville has ever enjoyed.

Dr. Edie's address revealed that very careful thought and study had been given to his preparation. It covered broadly the mission of Kiwanis as an agency which can be a force for building the character and respect of a community in proportion as its members practice its ethical code, which is nothing more than doing the right thing because it is the right, rather than the expedient, thing to do.

He indicated several activities through which Kiwanis could give practical demonstration to its motto, "We Build." Among these Dr. Edie stressed the importance of promoting the cause of public education. In this he felt the local club has an unique accomplishment to its credit in having been instrumental in making the Carnegie Library a community center. He urged that interest and cooperation be given every agency and effort to promote the public health, holding the view that the person who has sound health is most capable of rendering service to his fellows and in the community.

Dr. Edie's address was very enthusiastically received and he was warmly congratulated at its conclusion.

Altogether there were 149 persons in attendance. John Kestner won the attendance prize of the Kiwanis Club, M. M. Snyder being the donor.

New Trolley Car
Rule Blocks Green
Street Crossing

Motorists have called attention to the fact that while new regulations in effect on the South Side line, requiring motorists to stop their cars, when loading or discharging passengers, on the left side of street crossings, in order that such crossing not be blocked, have greatly improved traffic conditions the situation at Green and Pittsburg streets is worse.

Before the one man car came into use all passengers boarded the car and it was driven to the crossing, where it was stopped, the carmen always waiting on the corner in front of Kestner's drugstore, or on the opposite side of Green street, all depending whether they are in-bound or out-bound. This worked well with the car and was being used but with the introduction of the one-man car and front door entrance things have been changed. In order to allow passengers to enter the front the motorman has to stop his car right on the crossing, blocking all traffic on Pittsburg street. It has been recommended that the cars be brought to a stop on the left side of Pittsburg street when in-bound, thereby preventing such inconvenience.

Mrs. James Martin Improved.

The condition of Mrs. James Martin of Leasaring No. 1, who has been critically ill at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murtha of Uniontown, is slightly improved.

Wins Touring Car.

John Scott of Uniontown, R. F. D., won a touring car given last Saturday night by the Protected Home Circle of Uniontown.

Zenith Club Eliminates Atlas in Junior Series; Meets Crescents Friday

Curtain Will Be Hung Down Down on Basketball With "Title" Clash at Armory.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED

The Zenith Club and the Crescents will meet Friday evening at the Armory in the game that is to determine the junior championship of the city. This was decided last night when the Zeniths eliminated the Atlas Five in what is declared to have been the best game of the entire series. The result was 21-19.

It was another game in which the Zeniths came from behind with a rush to win. The end of the first half saw the Atlas team with a nine-point lead, the score being 13-3. At the end of the third quarter the Zeniths had cut down the Atlas lead, the count showing 18-16. In the last quarter, field goals by Yaw and Schell and a foul by... put the Zenith Club in the lead, where it remained.

The final game, at 7:30 Friday evening, promises to be a real contest. The Crescents seem to be the favorites but the Zenith Club is expected to do its best to come through with a victory.

The line-up:
Zenith Club—21. Atlas—19.
Summel... Ambrosio
Yaw... DeBolt
Buttermore... Trevitt
Black... Tannehill
Sullivan... Fisher
Substitutions—Schell for Summel, Stillwagon for Buttermore, Travis for Stillwagon, Yaw for Black, Black for Yaw, Coughenour for DeBolt, Cecil for Coughenour, DeBolt for Cecil.
Field goals—Schell 3, Yaw 3, Sullivan 3, Ambrosio 2, Trevitt, Tannehill Cecil.
Fouls—Zeniths, 3 out of 8; Atlas, 7 out of 12.
Referee—Lewis.

"TED" PRITCHARD MAKES IMPRESSION ON TEXAN CRITICS

San Antonio, Tex., seems pleased with the appearance of Ted Pritchard of Connelville, who is having a try-out as a pitcher for that club. The young pitcher, who is a native of Connelville, under the assumed name of Ted Jackson last summer, was sold to the Texas club for a tidy sum of money, to be increased if he becomes a regular.

He is listed as one of the "new" stars, as the San Antonio club is known to its followers. His bullet-like fast ball is mentioned and the article adds that "judging from his performance to date, he can make the old game do tricks."

Ted Pritchard, the item says, is in his "first year" of "professional" baseball as an experienced southpaw pitcher, with a record of 21 victories against 11 defeats while working for a good minor league club—Flint, Mich.—last season.

"Pritchard," the story concludes, "keeps bachelors' quarters during the winter at Connelville, Pa. The town is big enough to have a telegraph office."

Of Interest to Fans

Friday night marks the final basketball game in Connelville when the Crescents play the Zenith Club, winner of the Atlas Five-Zenith game for the junior championship of the city. The contest will be at the State Armory.

Members of the tennis association are having their racquets re-strung in preparation for the season which will open in a few more weeks.

With basketball season at an end, the sport lovers are turning their attention to baseball and tennis. At the High School, however, everything seems to be centered on track. There is still lots of room for an increase in the number of candidates however. What is one branch of sport where every boy is given full opportunity to branch out in his own individual line and the best man always wins.

The date for the county track meet is just about one full month off. It will take some "tail" hustling for the athletes to get in shape by that time and Coach J. E. Lerew has issued the final call. There are plenty of boys in the school who feel they might have the ability to do something in track or field work but are a little backward about reporting. The coach will do his best to give everyone a chance and welcomes every new addition to his squad.

Pirates Season At Home Begins 24th With Reds

The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cincinnati Reds are scheduled to open Pittsburgh's baseball season at Forbes Field Thursday, April 24. No Pittsburgh team ever took the field with more promise than the Pirates of 1924, for it is the consensus of opinion among the fans and critics the country over that, with the acquisition of shortstop Glenn Wright, the 1923 Kansas City sensation, and three more dependable pitchers in Kremer, Yde and May, the Buccos became at once a most likely contender for the 1924 National League pennant. Indeed, the New York correspondents, almost without exception, claim that if the Giants are to repeat this year, they must beat out both Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, especially the Steel City aggregation. Then, too, quite a few Pittsburghers, vacationing in California, glimpsed the Buccos in training and in exhibition games on the coast, and have sent back home some very optimistic predictions for the team. "Paint the flag-pole white and let the world see it, for there surely is going to be a championship flag on it next fall," writes one of the more rabid bugs. The addition of Wright to the Pirates infield and the switching of Rabbit Maranville to second base was a master stroke by the Pirates management and has met with the universal approval of fans. With Traynor at third, Wright (another Traynor) at short, Maranville at second and Grimm at first, the infield shapes up as fast, if not a little faster, than any similar aggregation in the two major leagues. Traynor seems to be better than ever this spring and Wright, his new side-kick, took the Pacific coast by storm in the exhibition games played in that section by the Buccos last month. Maranville, also, seems to have taken a new lease of life from his switch to the keystone rack.

Next to Wright and the old stars of the Buccos line-up, the interest of the fans seems to be centered in the new pitchers, Kremer, Yde and May, all of whom look as though they are going to make the regular staff of hurlers. Kremer is a veteran of Class A ball and fully capable right now of taking his regular turn with the other pitchers. He was rated last season as by far the most promising pitcher ever turned out by the Pacific Coast League, although his true value was hard to estimate, pitching as he was for a mid-level club. Yde is one of the greatest all-around athletes ever to come up to the major leagues. There is nothing in the field of sports that he cannot do and do well, but at pitching baseball he is a little better than in his other sporting attainments. Last season he virtually won the Western League pennant for the Oklahoma City Club with 25 victories and only 12 defeats. Yde also will be a valuable man to act as pinch hitter, for, although he is a pitcher and therefore not expected to be much of a stickler, he hit almost 400 last season. May comes from Omaha, (Nebr.) in the same league as Yde last season and has gained the sobriquet of "Buckshot." He is an exceptional find and altogether likely will stick with the Buccos.

The Pirates have an opponent par excellence in the Cincinnati Club for the opening series. The Reds with the Giants and Pirates are rated the one, two, three clubs of the league and the Forbes Field battles will be of championship calibre right from the beginning.

The 5 Point Motor Fuel

1. Easier Starting
2. Quicker Pickup
3. Greater Power
4. Less Carbon
5. Maximum Mileage

greater POWER

ONE of the five points which put this year's Atlantic Gasoline still farther ahead in the field of motor fuels is Greater Power. Atlantic does develop more power—not simply because it is heavily packed with high heat-producing units, but because these elements are so finely balanced that Atlantic ignites thoroughly and burns completely.* Its chain of "boiling points" is uniform. Combustion is complete. Every drop is converted into live, wheel-turning energy.

When you buy Atlantic, you get fuel that's full-powered, uniform, clean; fuel you can depend upon to get the utmost out of your motor at all times; fuel that keeps pace with every progress in automotive construction and every change in operating conditions.

*It's heat that drives your car. The combustion in your motor is nothing more than a sudden development of tremendous heat each time a charge of fuel ignites. The heat expansion drives the piston like a charge of burning powder drives the bullet from a gun. The gasoline which develops the most heat units in the fraction of a second the modern motor allows is the gasoline which gives you the most power.

72-year traditions

The Studebaker name has for 72 years stood for quality and class. To build an ordinary car under that name is unthinkable.

Our assets are $90,000,000—all at stake on serving you better than all others.

We have $50,000,000 in model plants, equipped with 12,500 up-to-date machines. We have 23,000 workers, under profit-sharing plans which lead them to stay and develop.

We spend on engineering $500,000 yearly. We employ 1,200 men to give 32,000 inspections to each Studebaker car in the making.

BUYERS OF STEEL INCLINED TO CUT DOWN THEIR STOCK

Sell a Very Substantial Turnover While Production Continues Heavy; Decline Slowly.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Review will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

Late in December and in the first part of this year there was a general disposition among steel buyers to replenish stocks. There was no inclination to accumulate large stocks, but the tendency was in that direction. With deliveries coming in unexpectedly large volume, and with prices showing a tendency to weaken rather than advance, the trend of late has been to reduce stocks.

With this reversal there would naturally be a very decided decrease in the volume of buying, yet this is not even now a very substantial turnover, and this is testimony to the largeness of consumption, which of course is greater than in December and January, on account of the progress of the season. It is not necessary to bring in political and other developments to supply an incentive for buyers not to buy. The absence of incentive to buy is sufficient explanation. Purchases are never made unless there is an incentive. The incentives of far off advance in prices or of inability to secure deliveries are lacking, the incentive existing being that of current needs.

Steel production reached its maximum rate about a month ago, and has since been declining at a slow rate. The decline will probably continue but is unlikely to be very marked up to midsummer.

First there developed just a little slugging in some steel prices, long ago. Later there have been some definite declines. The open market on moderate sized lots of bars, shapes and plates is now 2.50c, representing declines of 5c a ton in bar and 4c in shapes and plates from the levels held for so many months. On small lots and under special specifications higher than 2.50c is usually done. Sheets continue at price ranges ruling of late. The United States Steel Corporation holds strictly to the old sheet prices. The third quarter tin plate price will hardly be put out before late this month and the announcement may be deferred until early in May.

Lake Superior iron ore selling for the 1931 season has begun, with an 80-cent reduction, making the lowest prices since 1918.

HUMAN LETTER OPENER FOR U. S.

Ira Smith Reads All Mail
Sent to White House.

About the only prominent man whose autograph one may be absolutely sure of any more is that of the President. There is an inviolate rule at the White House in Washington that no one may initiate the President's signature, no matter how close, if one might be able to do it or how insignificant the letter to which the signature must be attached.

If the answer is sent in his name, the signature is genuine. If you have a letter from the White House with Calvin Coolidge's signature you may feel certain that the autograph, at least, is real.

Human Letter Opener.
Whether the President ever saw your letter to him or dictated the answer, however, is something else again.

Of course, more than one thousand letters reach the executive office in a day. To see nothing of several hundred telegrams which come over the White House wire. On an average, the mail contains something like four hundred letters. By the time these have been read, the President has not read more than two dozen letters held on the President's desk for him to read and answer personally.

The opening and sorting of this mail is a man's job. The human letter opener who holds it is Ira Smith, who has done nothing else day in and day out for ten years and one of the last decades or more.

His opening and sorting of the mail to the White House—sorted up or down—by mail express or messenger, if a crank were to ship a bomb or an infernal machine to the President, the man blown up would be Ira Smith and not President Coolidge.

Reads Even Personal Letters.
Mr. Smith can read the English language perfectly, with the exception of three words: "Personal," "Strictly Confidential," "Stump, Do Not Open."

In other words, "Very Private" on a letter to the President has much the same effect as to hand a nut to a squirrel with the suggestion, "Do not open until Christmas."

"Supposing I wanted to write and tell the President something that I wouldn't want anybody else to see and that I know he himself wouldn't want anybody else to see something, maybe, that really ought to be known except by him and me—how would I go about it?" I heard asked recently.

The answer is it couldn't be done. The only way yet discovered for a man not in the habit of writing to the President to get a letter into his hands without its first being opened and placed through by some one else is to give it to the President himself.

Tricks Only Cause Delay.
While the White House letter opener ordinarily pays no attention to "Personal" there are a few letters to the President that he does not open—those written by members of the President's family and by intimate friends. Mr. Smith is clever at recognizing handwriting.

Sometimes a writer incloses his letter in an envelope addressed to Secretary Sleep or to his private secretary, Mr. Clark, explaining that the letter is about something that the President wouldn't want even his secretary in on. Not infrequently somebody sends a letter to the President in care of Mrs. Coolidge.

None of these schemes work. The only result is to delay it. Anything addressed to the President's family must go to the White House first and then be sent over to the executive office. A letter to the President in closed with one to Mr. Sleep is opened and read by Mr. Sleep. If it were of much consequence it would reach him anyway as he reads every letter to the President if he thought it worth while.

"You're certain there are no alligators here?" he inquired of the guide "Gosh," replied the latter, grinning broadly. "Ain't no 'gators hyah."

Reassured, the tourist started out. As the water lapped about his chest he called out: "What makes you so sure there aren't any alligators?"

"They got too much sense," he heard the guide. "De sharks done scared dem all away."—Houston Post.

I Offer Girls

My Aids to Beauty, and to Woman Youth.
By Edna Wallace Hopper.

I had a rich ambitious mother. She searched the world with me to find the supreme beauty helps.

They made me a famous beauty. And now, after 40 years in the limelight, they keep me a beauty still.

Other girls in these same ways, can multiply their beauty. Other women can, to old age, keep their youthful bloom. I want to help them do so.

The very helps that France gave me are now at your command.

I am very busy on the stage, but I am taking time to tell you the secrets of my beauty and my youth.

And I hope the time will come when girls and women by the millions will enjoy what I enjoy.

It helps in four ways:

1. I found 12 things that women need to keep them at their best. From experts combined them in four applications. Thus beauty and perennial youth were made very easy for me.

2. One is my White Youth Clay. Not like the crude and muddy clay so many use today. This clay is white, refined and dainty. Twenty years of scientific study have made it amazingly efficient.

3. I use White Youth Clay to purify my skin of all that clogs or mars it. It gives me that rosy baby-like complexion. Blackheads or pimples or blemishes are unknown to me.

4. It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, keeps the face skin over like a girl's.

One application of my White Youth Clay brings almost unbelievable results. Many women seem to drop ten years. Continued use does marvels, as it did for me. No girl or woman who once tries this clay will ever go without it. The price is 50 cents and $1.

Two matchless creams.

My Youth Cream is a cold cream based on lemon and strawberry. It is made to embody all the best that science knows to whiten, feed, protect and smooth the skin. I use it after the clay. It is also my night cream.

My Facial Cream is a liquid cleanser. It contains no animal or vegetable fat. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. But it penetrates the skin to the depths. When I wipe it off, all that clogs the skin comes with it. No other method cleans a skin like this.

My hair is thick and lustrous. It grows finer every year. I have never had falling hair or dandruff since I used it.

This is due to my Hair Youth. Another French creation. I apply it daily with an eye dropper directly to the scalp. It gives me a moment and it does it. I can have the hair I want, no greater kindness than to give you to apply it. It costs 50 cents and $1.

All druggists and toilet counters supply these products which I use.

The price is small. Every girl or woman who will can have the Beauty Book comes with each Edna Wallace Hopper's 178 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.—Advertisement.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS

Fresh and cleaned fruits are invaluable as aids in keeping the system in good condition.

Philippine Salad.—Thin, one-half cupful of diced celery, two pinches of chopped dill, one cupful of walnuts or half of a nut.

Green pepper chopped. Mix the ingredients well, add mayonnaise and serve on shredded lettuce nests. This amount will serve six.

Cream Pie.—Take two cupfuls of top milk, two eggs, separating the yolks and whites beating well. Mix the yolks with three-fourths of a cupful of brown sugar and one-half cupful of flour. When well blended add the milk, and a half cupful of vanilla. Bake in a custard pie pan after the mixture is cooked and smooth. Cool and fill a baked crust. Cover with a meringue made from the two egg whites and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Bake until the meringue is brown.

Apple Crisp.—Butter a deep-dish and fill with sliced apples, using eight, add one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half cupful of water. Work together one cupful of sugar and three-fourths of a cupful of flour and seven tablespoonfuls of fat until crumbly. Spread over the apple mixture and bake uncovered. Serve with whipped cream or maple syrup.

Waffles.—Make a rich, highly seasoned white sauce using cream, butter and salt. Add one cupful of one cupful of butter and one cupful of flour. Cook until smooth and minced. Heat this in the center of a hot platter. Butter small waffles and sprinkle the lower half with the sauce. Break the waffles in each and pour the sauce over them. Turn out around the ham and sauce and dot the top of each with butter.

Carrot, Apple and Onion Salad.—Chop a small apple, grind through the meat grinder one small carrot and a little scraped onion and a small amount of chopped celery. Heap on lettuce and add a good highly seasoned dressing and serve well chilled.

Zah N. Dakota.—"I was nervous and weak and was not regular. I also had pains frequently. I was sickly for seven years and finally had a nervous breakdown following an operation. I am a dressmaker and milliner, and a lady who works for the Red Cross. I have been well since I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am taking it and it has made me my work again. I have even been able to take care of a sick neighbor recently, so you can see how fit I am. I highly praise your medicine and you may use my letter as you see fit. I hope it will help some other woman."—Mrs. O. N. Dakota, 1234, Box 22, North Dakota.

While a guest in the White House Governor J. A. C. Frank, of Minnesota, told President Coolidge the greatest danger to the Republic in the Northwest is a third party movement headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette. Such a party, he said, would carry several States. Rev. William Montgomery Brown, retired Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Arkansas, living in Galien, O., will be placed on trial on a charge of heresy in Trinity Cathedral Hall, Cleveland, O., on May 17. The prosecution grows out of 23 alleged heresies contained in his book, "Christianism and Communism," which has been printed in eight languages. Sebastian Roudi, a Sicilian lawyer, living in Milan, Italy, has sent a challenge to a trial to Maurice Materninov, Belgian poet and playwright, for alleged defamatory articles recently published concerning the poet's Sicilian trip. Mrs. Ludwiga Gardner, mother of the teen children, whose ages range from 5 to 12 years, has just won a $100,000 divorce on the grounds of desertion. Many of the ship crew, she alleges, were driven from home by her husband.

The veterans and their guests then adjourned to the large dining room where the banquet was held.

The banquet was served by Ladies Circle No. 13 to the Kurtz Post, and not the slightest detail in arrangement was overlooked. The menu included chicken, mutton, cold roast, potatoes, peas with carrots, cold slaw, celery, coffee, ice cream and cake. The large table was arranged to form the letter "V" and was attractively decorated with vases of pink and white carnations. The flowers being given as favors. Small American flags, inserted in the ice cream, were also favors. The napkins were decorated with patriotic designs. Near the center of the table was a large birthday cake donated by the Kurtz Post. The cake was decorated with the colors of the American flag. The cake was cut by Mrs. Herbert Walton, president of the Ladies Circle, and each guest was given a piece. City Has Paid $2,100 Storage
For Hook and Ladder Truck It Never Has Had Occasion to Use

Another strong argument in favor of a new fire station, located on the East Side, was advanced this morning. Since the agitation for the removal of the main portion of the fire fighting equipment to the business district began arguments in its favor have been following on the heels of each other.

Today it developed that since the purchase of the hook and ladder truck, just about seven years ago, the amount paid for its storage in local garages has totaled $2,100, or a goodly portion of what it would take to build a fire house.

Too large to fit into the available space in the West Side station and with no other municipally owned garage available, it was necessary to put this machine in a public garage. There it stands idle and cannot receive the attention it would get were it located in quarters with the firemen.

Incidentally the truck has never been used at a fire.

Garage rent is $25 per month or $300 per year. In seven years the amount paid for storage is $2,100. The city needs the truck, it is pointed

COMPLAINT

In 1923 Corliss Palmer, cigar counter clerk in Union Co., was a beauty contest staged by a motion picture magazine owned by Brown Bros., Baltimore, Md. New York publisher. At the invitation of Brower and his wife, she came to live with them while making a motion picture contract. Later Brower purchased a $200,000 estate for her at Morrisstown, N. J., where she lived with her mother and Brower. Now Mrs. Brower, who refuses to get a divorce, has sued her for $200,000 for alleged alienation of affections.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pale—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, sluggish feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for cod liver oil—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 15 years of study.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.
You will know them by their distinctive yellow color. To have a clear, pink skin, brightening complexion, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get the cause.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like cod liver oil—yet have no dangerous after effects.
They start the bile and overcome congestion. Take one or two regularly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 50c.

the Spring Trend

Radiant Touches of What's New
for Home Comfort

The Aristocracy of Fashion—

VOILA! They enter! The Spring Chinese influence with its clever variations—such as the loose fitting, Mandarin jacket effect and vivid, exotic embroidery is responsible for the delight of changing seasons. And it is here before the new modes seemed so expressly ordained to enhance the voice and charm of American woman. It is the sophisticated simplicity of the youthful mode that is the outstanding feature of all that is ultra-modern this season.

Paris has decreed it—and fashion leaders have so ably expressed it in every conceivable type of attire. It seems a veritable determination to make the world look young—or at least all the women in it—and what woman can fail to catch the charm of youth when costumed in "Pillar-like" slenderness, skirts just long enough to reveal slim ankles; small, snug-fitting cloche wringing the tones of smartness. It may be the number of ways.

Introducing the Variations.

Plais, as fine as they can be made, add to the attractiveness of afternoon frocks and are rivaled only by the dainty which seeks to retain its modesty. Gowns are uniquely fashioned, long, Russian tunic-effects are achieved in moire. Frills, ruffles, bouffants of the spiral variety add distinction to the youthful cache.

Channel has developed some interesting afternoon frocks in califon, plaited in all over effects so fine as to be hardly distinguishable. The plaited section drops from an off-the-shoulder yoke and forms tiny cap sleeves. Moire, satin and printed silks are the favored fabrics for afternoon wear. These are decorated in interesting ways—always in straight lines, always with careful attention to detail. Perhaps it is the tiny Mandarin collar or the rows of vivid buttons but the effect of the Chinese tendency is maintained.

For the Formal Occasion.

The important role that beads are to play in the evening mode this season is becoming obvious as one creation after another arrives from Paris displaying unique beautiful designs of brilliant beads that contrast with backgrounds of soft color or harmony with the fabric. Chiffons and tulle are the vogue with the novelty of a square neckline a delightful feature. White, black, yellow and "Chinese blue" are much in evidence although you may choose any of the pastel shades and be quite within the mode.

soft silks that are for southern wear. Brown has become a standard shade quite as much as blue or black. Chinese red and blue in many shadings are the choice of many important Parisian designers for both afternoon and street costumes.

Coat, Frock and Tailleur.

Once again the coat, frock, a three-quarter length, a knee-length, occupies the foreground. It is smartly developed in a variety of novelty fabrics, including cross-striped kasha cloth, suede cloth, velvet, Tulle, wool crepe, chenille and Rodier fabrics. Characterized by the bellows line long sleeves and neck treatment it combines utility with smartness. The redingote top, Russian tunic, neck-to-hem arrangement and scarf effects are among its fascinating details. Shantung honors with the coat frock is the newer boyish semi-sports frock designed for sports and general all-around service. There is a chic simplicity about these frocks that assures their popularity.

For the woman who enjoys a trim tailleur there is a wide range of choice this season. Fashioned of worsteds, homocordons, Rodier fabrics, woolen or silk alpaca these smart costumes are embellished with attractive plaids, stripes or checks. With the return of the silk into Milady's favor one realizes the necessity of including at least a few smart blouses in the Spring wardrobe. The elegant note in the tailored blouse is its stiff bosom front which is variously interpreted.

Occasionally this stiff bosom is adorned by a tucked area on a plain, untricked blouse or vice versa, a plain vest front appears in contrast to a tucked blouse. Little glass buttons in contrasting or self-colors frequently accentuate the mandarin as parrance. Many have monogrammed tabs in Chinese effect.

The importance that is being accorded the separate blouse and skirt is another style innovation of the Spring. The suspender blouse, developed in black suede cloth or satin cut square in the back-line and worn with white crepe de chine suitors waist is perhaps the favored mode to wear with the sports skirt. The straight Mandarin jacket made of an of the novelty summer prints is also popular sports wear with the plaid or striped skirt.

The Clever Capulet.

When one considers the question of the new Spring top coat or what it is seemingly difficult to overlook the very important capulet that is ever and anon liable to make its appearance in a novel disguise. This season it peeps forth on trim afternoon frocks of heavy crepe, on the long tulle and three-piece costume and now we find it in delightful variation on the new Spring coat. It is sponsored in a highly model developed in beige ribbed cloth with trimmings of navy bengaline ribbon.

For Collared "Top Coats"

One may almost call them "top coats" without qualms so decidedly masculine is their trend. The ivory feminine touch is achieved in the soft, luxurious small fur collars that are so much favored. The silhouette in general is the straight line with occasional introductions of the circular apron front. Cape sleeves are much used.

Forty inches is the favored length for the twill coat for general wear. These coats are attractively trimmed with braid. Artichoke green, red and brickdust shades as well as stripes and plaids are to be the vogue.

Heavier Fabrics in Variety.

Seldom indeed has the woman whose dress sense can fashion her own wardrobe been so assured of a wide range of selection in fabrics. So many of the newer materials are offered already untricked or so richly designed that there is small need for trimmings of any kind.

The first impression of the new fabrics is of their exquisite beauty both of weave and design. One notes the influence of Chinese, Russian and Oriental effects in color combinations and designs. One of the most interesting new silk weaves for summer is called "Crepadate," which is simply a slight embroidery stitch forming its little dots a design of Greek keys and other patterns.

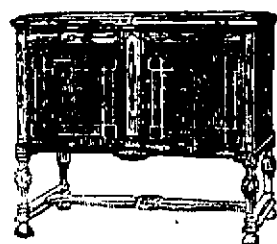

Imported radins appear in heavy black designs beneath which one notes small round designs. Volles lines, crepes and silks are all richly embroidered. Several silks are completely covered with Chinese characters and flowers. This Spring promises truly to be a most colorful one and it is certain to bring renewed spirit and energy and greater charm to every woman.

"There's a RADIOLA for Every Purse!"

New and Remarkable Achievements in the New Radiolas

The new Radiolas—new triumphs of radio research! Intensive study of the problems of radio today—backed by vast engineering resources—have laid bare the needed improvements in radio—and have found the way to these improvements. There was a need for non-radiating receivers. For super selectivity. For more melodious tone reproduction. For dry battery receivers more sensitive for long distance reception. For even simpler operation. And these needs have been met in the new Radiolas. There was a need for a worth-while receiver at a popular price. And this need, too, has been met. Thus the Radio Corporation of America fulfills its purpose—bringing together great discoveries of the foremost inventors—making possible things that seemed impossible in radio. And bringing these achievements to every home, with a Radiola for every purse.

We have ordered the new Radiola models. They may be in any day. Don't buy a radio until you have seen the new Radiolas.

Let's Begin With the Hat

SPRING has come and hitherto Madame sees off for her milliner. A casual observer noting the alacrity she reveals may think that at last American women have grasped the importance of being properly "hatted." For who can deny that it is indeed one's chaplain that strikes the keynote of smartness?

If, however, one asks almost any fashion designer what causes Madame's hurry she is apt to attribute it to quite a different motive. One may wonder who will say, "It is to meet her old favorite, of course." So the secret's out—Madame is off to her milliner to watch as eagerly as fond parent for his offspring for the return of the small, close-fitting cloche.

She may easily expect her mode to produce new modes—large hats, off-the-face models, but inevitably she will turn back to the cloche.

History of the Cloche.

Since its first appearance several years ago the cloche, as it is popularly known, has undergone some serious changes. A conspicuous upshot; they bring; sides extended slightly down; each has been added, and approved. Repeatedly modistes have tried to effect its entire removal but insistently it has been given new life—by unanimous verdict of its patrons.

This Spring fashion arbiters, resignedly accepting the verdict, have set about creating new and charming variations—formidable rivals of the cloche. One need but glimpse the outcropping new collections with their fresh, vivid colorings and exotic, Oriental embroidery, to be assured that there is a most interesting range to choose from.

The Newer Trend.

First in the ranks that are destined to win Milady's favor is the turban—so small and snug that it is a veritable wrap-around. It is offered in vivid colorings, Chinese designs and is ornamented with a simple pin or novelty; often of rhinestones. Then comes the small hat with roll brim effect and preferably with high crown, seemingly adapting the distinctive mode. The tricorne, the beaver and off-the-face models are also offered, but none seem to be apt to usurp the place of the cloche.

Quite apparent too, is the picturesque larger hat with soft, drooping brim—that type of hat one invariably wants for warm, summer days. This the designers feel confident will be the ultimate choice later in the season—and quite rightly so, for there can be no substitute for this hat that harmonizes so well with the softness of a cool frock of pastel shades.

For Sports Wear.

The smart shops feature hats of more tailored appearance. Especially popular is the panama in the bleached color, with pastured punch worked with a broad, green ribbon about the crown, with bow on the side. Another popular model is of emerald green trimmed in wide Chinese red ribbon. It is very small, with slightly drooping brim or roll front and rather high crown. In shades to harmonize with sports apparel.

New Color Tones and Fabrics.

Once again cool, refreshing shades of green promise to be popular especially for wear with the light colored crepes and tulle silks. The distinctive color tones, however, seems to be black, white, the Chinese red and blue; all shades of tan and brown.

The obvious preference for white, especially for Southern wear, has caused the creation of many models that show marked individuality.

White is generally made the basis of the hat with the trimming in color, or a combination of color is used. For wear with the trim tailleur of white alpaca, one very often sees a tiny, white felt hat with roll brim faced in contrasting color. White hair brush shapes with white satin ribbon crowns are effective.

Variety in Fabrics.

Fabrics this Spring are as cheerfully varied as can be desired. You may safely choose a Milan hemp, Bangkok, Lechors, Swiss straw, novelty straw or silk, and be certain of its correctness.

Paris has given a new style trend in the many new models that feature plaid or Roman striped ribbon in bright, warm colors. High standing bow effects of the ribbon form the beauty of a careful coiffure; this only trimming on the smart, plain shapes. It seems doubtful as to the popularity of this new mode in America except perhaps, for sports wear.

Milliners are placing most unusual emphasis on the veillings that are destined to play an important part in Milady's Spring wardrobe. It is safely predicted that the smartly stylish woman will have at least two or three veils for every hat.

The "Butterfly" Veil.

This is a two-in-one combination of hairline mesh on one side of which appears black velvet appliques, with black and white combinations in corresponding positions on the other side. Square veils in the many shades of brown and two-toned effects as well as nose veils in cheville dots are favored.

Paris Chantilly lace veils with the two ends worn over the shoulders, some edged with fine beavercut embroidery, are being sponsored by a leading French milliner. For the woman who appreciates the chic charm of a veil and the very marked service it renders in preserving the beauty of a careful coiffure, this Spring's vogue for veils will be warmly welcomed.

CORSETRY Emphasizing the Silhouette

Because of the new details this has made the straight-line silhouette the favorite this Spring, the corset seems destined to come into its own. Once again it is the corset that shall provide "the line that leads to youth."

Changes in Corsets.

It is, however, a corset distinctly different from the corset of yesterday. Gone—and one can scarcely believe it ever existed—is the large, cumbersome corset with its high top and stiff bonnet. It is a tiny corset—seamlessly boned at all—fashioned of beautiful, soft fabrics and attractively trimmed that Milady may choose today.

The Ideal Figure, modistes remark, for this season is the one that suggests the straight uncurved line of a pencil. This means that corsetry must cope with the problem of flattening the line of the lower back in order to fit the figure for the narrow tube styles. A black section of material is used to have a straightening effect and to hold figure and corset in place. Additional garters, well placed, also help in this important problem.

The Topless Corset.

Barely, it ever, does one see a corset with a top except for the very heavy flange. More often the corset is topless and resembles a giraffe because of its light boning. The braising and corset combination which consists of a new one-piece garment commonly known as the "corsetiere" is very popular for the slender figure, especially for sports or negligee wear.

The non-binding corset which wraps around the torso and assures the wearer of comfort as well as a perfectly smooth line, is steadily becoming more popular. Very large women prefer the "hugger" model, which can be adjusted to the individual figure more easily.

"Bon Ton" and "Royal Worcester" Corsets

A faultless, correctly fitting corset fashioned by deft hands from extensive materials, is the one best recipe with which to assist nature in beautifying the form and attaining a stylish, graceful contour.

Bon Ton Corsets are designed for all types of figures, in back lace styles. They are shown in a wide selection of models that one will have little difficulty in being correctly fitted. Shown in plain or brocaded effects, in pink or white. $5.50 to $10.00.

Royal Worcester Corsets will appeal for their moderate price. Like the Bon Ton Corset, they are fitted with the patented "Royal" non-binding design and are designed to suit all types. Sizes 20 to 28. $1.00 to $1.50.

An expert corsetiere is always at hand to give you the benefit of her experience in corset fitting.

WRIGHT-METZLER CO

PARIS has decreed it. And in subservience every smartly styled woman's wardrobe for Spring will include at least one tulle. There will also be a big close-fitting hat and tailored blouse that now boasts the name of "shirt." What, then, could be more appropriate than that fashion arbiters develop the all-important accessories in equally tailored lines.

By no means however, has the tailored model in either the night robe or the negligee completely usurped the high place of favor of the daintily lace trimmed garments that so truly express real femininity.

Evening Front Night Robe.

Here one finds a delightful version of the new fad. Sleeves are set in and short after the manner of the sports blouse. The neck is V-shaped with a turn-down sports collar. There is a pleated inset across the front that buttons down the front and often ends in a monogrammed tab.

The popularity of this particular model depends on the ease with which one can launder the smart bonnet front. Many women prefer the pleated front and the coat that opens down the front or perhaps tie at the side. When one views the many new models, however, it seems as if there are at least a half dozen, so cleverly varied are the neck and sleeve lines and fabrics. The fullness in many of the breakfast wrap coats is concentrated at the center front and back instead of over the hips, giving a slightly draped effect that is most pleasing.

Lacy New Robes.

A greater variety of laces has never been used in fashioning dainty nightgowns. The popular flat and Irish laces appear often in combinations with laces of minor importance. Châles and even in "tulle" are very narrow and even in "tulle" are much in evidence. Crepe de chine is the most popular silk used. Crepe back satin and radium are also good. All the lovely pastel shades are used, peach, tan rose and apricot predominate.

Fundamentally it seems there are three distinct negligee illustrations—the kimono sleeved wrap; the break fast coat and the coat that opens down the front or perhaps tie at the side. When one views the many new models, however, it seems as if there are at least a half dozen, so cleverly varied are the neck and sleeve lines and fabrics. The fullness in many of the breakfast wrap coats is concentrated at the center front and back instead of over the hips, giving a slightly draped effect that is most pleasing.

Delicate chiffons in rainbow effect from the pleureux background for luxurious soft, maroon, trimming. White lace robes, silk lined, edged with maroon that has been dyed to match are quite in vogue. Here and there one sees Chinese designs introduced in border form above the hem.

REFLECTING the radiant gay colorings and soft appealing loveliness comes the spring fabrics—originality of weaves, vivid color tones and pretty designs will be of interest to women who fashion their own apparel. A visit will surely furnish you with ideas that will help in the planning of a new wardrobe at a minimum expenditure.

BEDDING attention and seemingly certain of receiving it come the juvenile models that this Spring seem to have as a decided pace of their own. Dame Fashion has allied herself with style designers and is bent on enhancing the natural charm of youth with a fine array of bright colors, novel fabrics, effective trimmings in modes especially adapted to the needs of the growing girl.

Little woolen frocks, especially designed for general and play wear, come in and trimmed with shiny colored plaids. The straight line, little frock belted at the waist and made with raglan sleeves is quite popular. For the miles under night the blonnet dress is the favored choice with the bloomers made of harmonizing fabrics and edged with dainty lace or embroidery.

Slip-On Dresses.

Fuller than that tie in the back are used on the slip-on dress. The Dutch mode with a tie-dressing short-waisted bodice and full skirt is another pleasing and new variation. Gingham chambray and velvety in effective new patterns as well as plain weaves are featured.

When Miss Six to Ten is entered, trained or enst, the role of tiny housewife she was a look of crepe gown, otto or crepe Roman in one of the delicate pastel shades. Small silver roses in bouquet or garland chest are effective trimmings.

Novel Trimmings.

Feather-stitching and cro-stitching are among the favorite trimmings especially on the long-sleeved frocks. Cro-stitching is often used to bring out the crepe design in gingham. Feather trimmings are cleverly employed to outline applique patterns. Often these are a little frills. Cro-stitching, in color, and add a very definite charm to the most simple little dress.

For school or general wear the growing girl is certain to prefer a few frocks in the tailored mode. Fashioned with Peter Pan collar and cuffs of white or tan linen with leather belt of contrasting color and novel pocket. These trim dresses seem to express the buoyant spirit of youth.

Hats for school and general wear are of felt or straw and silk combinations. Shapes are small and close-fitting with the tiny roll being a novel effect. The wood shades and Chinese blue or red are very much in vogue for the Junior Miss.

THE HONOR ROLL IN FOOTWEAR

CELEBRATING the new mode in Spring footwear, we may rightly assume that we are indeed to be judged from "the tip of the toe to the top of the head." It is certain, however, that the model of the shoe is of greater importance than the model of the head.

From the relatively unimportant position as a very minor item in the lady's wardrobe it has steadily risen until this Spring we find the shoe developed in a variety of interesting styles—harmonizing with every conceivable type of costume.

There is footwear designed for morning or sports wear, for informal afternoon or street wear, for dancing and the formal occasion. Not fashioned as in previous seasons, but especially developed and individualized by novel leathers, style models and ornaments. And nothing so surely marks a discriminating woman as quickly as her footwear.

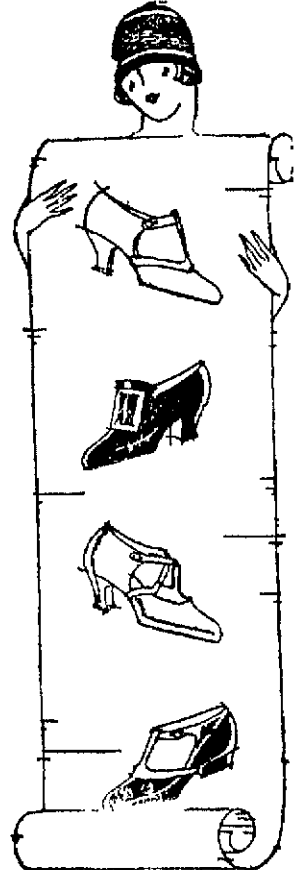

Predominance of Brown.

This Spring promises to be a brown season. Shades, very from cream to tawny-brown, have become quite a standard color, even as much as black, and so being universally adopted. One finds it suitable for morning wear and in the evening it is introduced in a soft sandal slipper. There will be very little gray, except in the novel lined leather worn this season.

Particular attention is given to the high strap sandal developed in all colors from ivory to lacquer red. From all appearance, however, it is not likely that American women will again prefer the colored shoe.

For Street Wear.

Especially popular is the midship of kid, suede patent leather, or velvet leathers such as crocodile, alligator, and snake. Wide with high or Junior French heel and small square buckle of

The Informal Afternoon.

For the informal afternoon one finds an interesting model of patent leather with very high Cuban heels, fastened by narrow straps of lizard skin. Another favored style is the plain pump without straps, effectually imitated with small round, cut, dent buckles or brilliant pin ornaments placed at the side.

The new details reveal the absence of the sandal for daytime wear. Appliques in contrasting colors, lips and inserts of contrasting color and lacings are replacing our work and intricately placed straps.

The Evening Mode.

Without a doubt it is the evening mode that offers greatest variety of all this Spring and is quite a simple matter to choose daytime footwear that will add greatly to the beauty of one's gown.

It seems certain that slippers of silver and gold kid and brocade will be the choice of fashionable women. A distinctive model of silver brocade is fashioned with loops of silver cord and tassels of ribbons and pearls. One sees no more of the large buckle of early winter. It is replaced either by a tiny buckle of ribbons or a jeweled ornament.

The Mode for Resorts.

The choice seems practically unlimited and there are styles to harmonize with the gay sports costumes. White is destined to be the most popular color, tone and is offered in kid, cord and buckskin. For wear with cool printed gowns or tub silks, one prefers the white kid that seems so much more intended for a leisurely stroll or for an informal afternoon gathering. For the woman who participates in sports and there is an ever-increasing tendency in this direction—the flat heeled oxford, either all white or combined with lizard skin or alligator is quite appropriate.

hammered silver or jet. The vogue for these quaint Colonial pumps still persists and seems to continue to appeal itself to American women.

Why physicians and practipedics recommend this new kind of a shoe

In all parts of the country, women, on the advice of physicians and practipedics, are wearing Johansen's Feature Arch Shoes. Why do these men, with their professional knowledge, recommend this shoe?

Because Johansen's Feature Arch Shoe is the only shoe that is both rigid and flexible through the arch. Most foot troubles are caused by fallen arches. To relieve and correct this, two things are necessary. The arch must be supported when the weight of the body is upon it—and flexibility must be provided so that weakened muscles can, through movement, regain their strength.

Physicians and practipedics recommend Johansen's Feature Arch Shoe because it is scientifically correct for cases of fallen or weakened arches.

Fads and Fancies of the Hour

TO what, pray, will Missy's fancy turn now? Having evoked delightful changes in frock and coat and footwear, designers have set about supplying accessories that will add greatly to the smartness of the new Spring wardrobe. Rarely ever have accessories promised to play such an important part.

This is especially cheerful tidings to the woman who has been secretly planning to retain part of last season's costume with innovations. With clever touches plus a new hat, modestly small, shoes and gloves harmonizing; perhaps a scouter that is vividly Chinese in design and coloring, it is certain anyone can appear trim and well-dressed.

New Kid Gloves.

There is a decided vote for the glove with turnback cuff, either straight or flared, with mitching—perhaps in pastel tones. The full range of colors including tanhark, alicata, larist, beige and mode are leaders. Black and white is much used. Suede and glove are equally popular. The short cuff glove all the most important style note.

In a chic costume will receive a final silencing note this season—after the one dress color scheme from the scouter, brace or a Missy may choose. This season they will correspond to the comb she sponsors for the more formal occasion. These combs come in a host of eccentric shapes and designs.

Scarcely a hat shop that does not feature parasol imports for Southern wear and always displayed in conjunction with sports apparel. Wood handles finished with imitation ivory are popular. One notes an interesting diversity in the fabric—allower floral effects on creases, hand-dyed, gingham showing stripes of colored checks and silken velours. There is a demand for every costume and one can well understand their popularity. Every woman can picture the advantage of a leisurely stroll on the beach with one of these daintily fashioned, festive parasols, colored carefully above a smart sports suit or flimsy, soft at dinner frock.

Headbands for Spring.

Although the bandeau seems to be losing its popularity because of the increasing tendency for bobbed hair, it comes back this Spring in many pleasing new styles. The wide, for the high comb as well as the bandeau presupposes that at least for the formal occasion the ultra smart woman must again revert to her former elaborate coiffure. Paris sponsors headbands of cut steel and in charming, dainty patterns. The fan, large or small, is also here again. This time fashioned of real lace, sequins and occasionally of metal lace.

Fashion demands that Missy's accessories be just as much in style as her new frock or coat. We are ready to assist in fulfilling Fashion's demands. Here are a number of items that will be popular this Spring—

Speaking of personality, suppose we were to start with cases.

A room properly decorated is an instant revelation of the tastes of its owner. Take this one, a bedroom. A single bed has its side to the wall, above it in the corner hangs a large embroidered tapestry and at the head stands a table with a lamp on it. The bed is entirely covered with green novelty cloth.

Across, between two windows stands an antique table with drop leaves, one of the sturdy sort that has served in a peasant or farm kitchen. Over the table are hanging bookshelves. The windows are unusual in treatment, having a painted motif lambrequin from which hang printed linen curtains on rings that slide on a pole. The floor is covered with dull red and black linoleum with a single rug in front of the bed. On one side of the room is a large desk, mirrors. The prints on the wall are gay in color, are caricatures of famous figures.

Now, then, whose room is this? A He-Man's Room. Well, it's a man's room, that's sure! And not an ordinary man's, but many men are oblivious of their surroundings, and know a Morris chair and a smoking stand and that's all.

No, this man is a regular he-man and has about him things he wants to use in a perfectly practical way. But he has some taste, some sensitivity to surroundings (one sees that in the color chosen), likes to be well-groomed (that is told by the triple mirror), wants to sit on the table and not have it snap under him, and likes to read in bed. (His lamp is set exactly right for that and sheds plenty of light.) You have only to look at his room to read these strong characteristics.

There is what we mean by personality in decoration.

How shall you create it? Let your own personal tastes, your pet activities, your artistic expression, music, drawing, sewing—whatever it is, be shown forth in practical and tasteful arrangement. And your room will be alive—a reflection of your individuality.

Can't you tell a number of definite traits of character by this room? Here it is.

Twin Beds of Ivory. The very first impression is that of ruffles, not very fluffy ruffles, but restrained ruffles, as it were. The twin beds are painted with gold, daintily, to a deep ivory, with panels of flowers in gold and green. Each bed has its lavender taffeta spread, a single deep ruffle on either side edged with green. In one corner an upholstered chaise-longue is lighted by a reading lamp whose shade is daintily in lavender and green geometric. In the opposite corner is an oval table on casters matching the other pieces in color. On it is a breakfast set of yellow and black china.

There are three flat dressers—each at least one is a dresser with a hanging mirror, another is a vanity case, and the third is a chiffon-robe. On each are bits of Vesuvian glass.

Between the beds is a night table with a bit of Dresden made into a lamp. At the high windows hang draped curtains of printed and striped green taffeta.

Need you any further introduction to the owners and their tastes?

Other types of rooms are equally revealing and satisfying.

Charming Breakfast Room.

Two charming breakfast rooms come to mind. The painted gold and black set in the one is strongly reminiscent of some antique period.

A checker board floor is appropriate. Dull yellow pottery dishes belong to the table. Tucked green satin glass curtains hang at the many windows separated by iron drapes, striped with green and dotted with little Chinese figures. There is a quaint charm, with reserve, about this small room.

The other is a jolly sort of place—it has an invigorating effect in its gay color, and would be sure to dispel any before-breakfast frown. A large pattern of parrots was chosen for the cretonne hangings, which were effectively edged with scallops of plain red. Brightest inch squares of the cretonne containing the parrots were cut out and placed high on the wall—there with wood outlines they form a colorful frieze.

Suggests Chinese language. The dining set colored itself in dull red suggestive Chinese lacquer. Red and white china set the table, covered with linen runners. And at that, the red was not too prominent in the room, for the parrots reposed in blues, yellow and greens, on a cream ground and there were plenty of them, what with the wall panels and the curtains.

Let us stop in the nursery for a moment. Isn't it fine we are recovering so nicely from a spring? It must have been a spring or a bit, or something, that impelled people to mercifully over-decorate the nursery; of course was sentimental and make it utterly impossible with frilled net and point d'esprit.

What healthy child will give who has for a pale pink bed spread covered with sheerest net, muchly hurried and with dainty round cushions covered with Italian lace. A real child wants to slide off the bed—and turn somersaults on it; play pirates under it and run across the room and tumble into it. He'd love rather have good old bucky kingdom that will wash than one of these you-mustn't-touch sort of spreads.

Simplicity in Nursery. Simplicity is the keynote for the modern nursery. Painted furniture of the right height, linoleum floors and washable rugs, shelves for toys and treasures, a few pictures, good books, not elaborate ones, these will form the right atmosphere and background for a healthy child.

The living room—perhaps it is a little saying but it must needs be livable. Two periods now much beloved are the Italian and the Spanish. Each is simple, practical, usable—that's why we like and use them. Simple bare wall spaces give abundant opportunity for richly embroidered hangings and pictures, or form excellent settings for carved and painted furniture. Elaborate from work is characteristic of the Spanish period. This may be combined with Italian pieces with their solid dignity with excellent effect.

Regency Period in Favor.

Another period that has come into popular favor is the Regency. Simplicity, reserve and restraint are its keywords. It has the quality truly described by the word elegance. Very much lighter in feeling than the two periods just discussed, it will not appeal to all of us, nor will the price of "the real thing" be within our reach. Some of the Regency pieces, tables and desks especially, are beautifully comfortable, and practical in our modern homes.

Arrangement has so much to do with comfort in a living room. A davenport with a long table at its back has become familiar. It is usually near the fireplace. A bit differently and just as comfortably one room placed its two large pieces, table and davenport toward one end and opposite a secretary desk. A smaller davenport at right angles to the fireplace was faced by a pair of upholstered chairs. This made an aisle to the fireplace; at the same time made a group arrangement, so that conversation might be facilitated among several people, seated together. Desks, tables and lamps were scattered about the walls, with mirrors and pictures to complete the picture. The drapes at the windows were high, tied back and spread out on the floors. A Chinese brass ten-ple set consisting of candlesticks, vases, and incense burner, decorated the mantle.

Post-War Furniture.

What period? Well, that of America in the four years following the Great War will best describe it. A set of furniture for the dining room consists, year after year, of approximately the same pieces. A buffet, a serving table, a silver chest, always appear, with the dining table and chairs. Variation in silver chests, we find—low chests, and high chests—sometimes both to complete one dining set. Shall the high chest have glass or wooden doors? Glass doors reveal china or mirror on the shelves, wooden doors conceal—well, it's a matter of personal taste.

Further do we stray from year to year, because there is a certain standard of taste that is always pleased and satisfied with beautifully finished walnut, the general favorite, Mahogany, carlin, or rich little wood.

Details—chair coverings, soft heads, drawer pulls are subject to the greatest changes. One set uses heavy handsome old rose tassels for drawer pulls, another, pairs of small brass handles, quiet in design.

An elaborate dining set may boast a point, or velvet with fringe for upholstery on its chairs. But modern upholstery on plain colors has proved durable and most satisfactory. Kests of upholstered in lacquer finishes combine well and add a note of distinction to the room, pleasantly decorated as it is. Appropriate chairs are decided on the relative merits of Italian pottery, subtle Wedgwood translucent Spode, or brilliant lustre and the use of each for a particular room.

DECORATORS are ever talking "keynote" as if furnishing were a concert or symphony. And there is relation, a very close one, between color harmony and music, composition, rhythm and tone value, for porches, the keynote is beauty, the atmosphere is on comfort, the rhythm and tone value varying according to taste.

Porches indoors—that is, roofed and glassed, porch-out doors, terrace and loggia, are the keynote of the modern type of problem for solution. A drop leaf table is a general favorite. Upholstered pieces are comfortable for porches under roof while open-to-the-air furniture must needs be weather-proof.

Was it Mark Twain who said, "A great deal is always said about the weather but nothing is ever done about it?"

One must do something about it if one is furnishing a terrace or other open air living room.

Fayne Reed and Wicker.

Though, turns quickly to read, more and wicker furniture for porches. Besides the ordinary chairs and rockers, with a davenport to match, one finds a number of other pieces of great interest. A foot rest of more than usual size, with an upholstered cushion can be so placed with a straight chair as to form a luxurious chaise longue.

Two time suggest tables, usually with plain wood top, and graceful either in oval or circle. A drop leaf table is another happy idea—no one wants to go indoors at tea time, and such a convenience will bring all the accessories of the tea service to one's hand, as it were. A desk is another pleasant addition to the practical beauty of modern porches. Or do piazzas grow only in the South?

Speaking of food reminds us of many charming painted pieces for the meals to be served in the open. A drop leaf table is a general favorite. Upholstered pieces are comfortable for porches under roof while open-to-the-air furniture must needs be weather-proof.

Chairs of Windsor Type.

Chairs to match come in many Windsor types or with ladder backs. A serving table belongs in every set, and sometimes a dresser with now, and for the display of china, shelves for the display of china.

Natural wood finish in mahogany or walnut makes a more quiet set, but it has a quality of reserve that is very fitting for some porches.

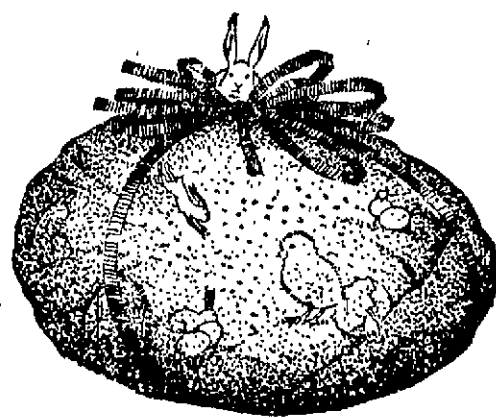

Aquariums, too, have handsome wrought iron stands. Flower holders are somewhat similar. These also may be suspended by chains. A black glass top or black and gold table of wrought iron with either a marble top or a dignified touch to the logic. Outdoor porches and terraces may be furnished with any of the furniture described if it is taken in, when the rain comes. Hickory pieces can stand the weather fairly well, and stone furniture still better. Stone, however, really belongs to the garden proper.

Chinese Lanterns Favored. Lighting the porch is a proposition affording opportunity to display one's originality. Great Chinese lanterns are very effective and can be used anywhere on the roofed porch. Brass lanterns can be fastened to the wall, or those wrought of iron. Electric sockets are a great addition to the comfort of any porch, in case one has a sudden desire to attach the toaster or the grill.

Standing lamps of iron are pleasant for the porch, usually with appropriate parchment shades. Torch-cores may be used effectively and where there is no great draft, candles may be lighted.

Have you ever descended early to the long piazza of a summer hotel? A row of grim sentinels sent you down and you hardly dare sit into the and you hardly dare sit down lest you disturb the terrible symmetry. How much more comfortable and inviting it seems at night when the chairs are all seated about in interesting groups, suggesting chairs and gossip and intriguing talk-a-lot!

LEFT us lived up our interiors in the openwork, through which light shone. This elaboration of treatment was very effective against simply treated walls. From this, beginning one might view his further work in the living room, combining, as it did so skillfully, every element of cheer, comfort and interest.

Across the room two long tables stood, each with its background of hangings, which were Italian cut velvet, curves of red and gold in Oriental design lamps of Japanese porcelain with pakka shades in gold stood on on table. On the other side of the room, a small table, flanked by two chairs, was a "chop" for tea and stands about seven inches high. Each held a carved Foo dog.

Like an Italian Wall.

Use Teakwood Candlesticks. Among the interesting features developed in a study by Mr. W. were built-in bookshelves with red velvet curtains to correspond with a red velvet curtain. Balloon lanterns were suspended from the high ceiling, radiating soft light on a wonderful spin-glass screen. A shrine with a life size Buddha held fascinating characters upon it.

Opposite he had made a very interesting arrangement of chairs and tables, with a great antique gold brocade hanging for a background. Teakwood chairs without arms stood with their familiar open work backs. Each table held a Ming blue lantern, octagonal in shape, lighted, Ming blue glass filling the interior.

Mattresses, Pillows and Springs

INSURE WHOLESOME COMFORTABLE LUXURIOUS SLEEP.

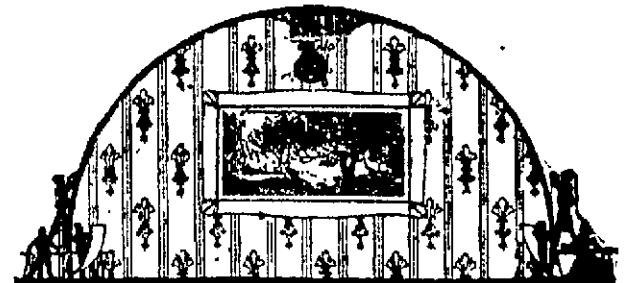

The Balyeat mattresses are made from pure clean staple cotton.

This cotton passes through a series of beaters which whip out leaves, seeds, dust, etc. This foreign material is blown away by suction and thrown out by air currents, while the clean cotton passes on. After being thoroughly cleaned, it is loosely woven, known as layer felt. A mattress made of this kind of felt makes a wholesome comfortable and luxurious bed.

Miller & Fox

House Furnishers.
147-151 W. Crawford Ave., Connellsville, Pa.

Two hops there has been established a new conception in the mod-line of men's suits for Spring. This style first manifested itself in London and on the Continent; New York adopted the style into last season and now in its second hop this fashion has landed fairly and firmly in what the East is pleased to call the "provinces," which takes in all the territory from the Hudson west to the Golden Gate.

Hence, we have before us this season as the outstanding thing a type of suit variously known as an English model, Brooks model, or Loose Sack Lounge Suit. This model lacks finesse. It is rather in the careless drapery of the coat that it finds its style characteristics.

It has the straight front, ample chest, shoulders that tend slightly to more squareness than recent models, waists cut straight across, the bottom — or nearly so — trousers high-waisted, wide and straight hanging from the line and almost circular trouser cuff.
This model is shown in double-breasted effects, two-button style, but it is in three-button single-breasted sack that it finds its most logical interpretation.

Lapels of these coats are broader than heretofore and the coat cut away a bit more than we have been accustomed to, with no vent in the back.

Double Breasted Popular.

Double-breasted coats continue in popularity, especially with the younger and slighter built men. The double-breasted vest is not quite so fortunate. Last season the East leaned strongly toward them, but its popularity is decidedly on the wane now.

Not all men will take kindly to these English model suits—some because these models are discouraging to the man who is keen for the naturality and crispness that is inherent with more body tracing lines. Other men will look askance upon them because it takes "a figure" to wear them successfully and not all men are so blessed in stature that their own

model itself lacks.

Hence Fashion is not strictly arbitrary. More form-fitting effects are offered as a compromise and these English styles will, by no means, on-comprise a total eclipse of the athletic style in suits.

Then, too, there are the sport styles and in this day of golfing, country clubs and summer dancing and outing excursions the sport styles will well hold their own. In these sport styles, however, there is a noticeable influence of the English trend which is manifested by less of the Norfolk modelling than we have been accustomed to associating with sport clothes.

Many men nowadays are wearing a severely cut lounge coat of sack characteristics even with their knick-ers. This fashion finds its "beginning" from the fact that many men in New York and in the larger centers like to play golf during the day, drop into "tea" during the early afternoon or evenings at the club and hotel places and dance in the evenings without changing their garments.

Four-Piece Suits Favored.

For such purposes the sack coat is a trifle dressier, and it is because of this tendency that the four-piece golf suits are gaining in such popularity because the man can easily discard the knickers at his office or his club to the conventional trousers and have his coat to match.

Plaids, checks and small mixtures as well as monotone pattern treatments have forced the previously popular stripes into the background, as favored as last summer and it is these effects that you will note largely in the Spring suits this season.

Blues are very strong. Powder blue, Porcelain blue, Guard blue, blue-gray and French gray are the outstanding colors of the season in the larger fashion centers. These may be in solid colors or in modest mixtures with the above shades as the dominant foundation effects.

Topcoats Cut Looser.

Topcoats are cut a trifle looser than heretofore and are in sympathy with the suits in their English cut and almost straight lines. Guard models, box models and Chesterwade are mostly seen and many of the smartest are in the blue tones mentioned above.

Golf Knickers are cut straighter and with not quite so much fullness and they blouse deeper below the knee than in the earlier models.

As Spring blends into summer you will naturally see more of the sport style clothes especially in the two-piece suits. For the mid-summer warm flannels and gabardines will be the dressy evening suits, especially for dancing and social wear. These will be evenly divided between plain sack and sport treatments.

Next to these will be the finer grades of mohairs, Palm Beach ef-

Spring 1924

Is Rampant Again In Men's Haberdashery

THE well dressed man is to be a gay bird. Indeed this season—at least in respect of high colors—are a host of such expression in his neckwear his bowties, his shirts, his golf attire and his handkerchiefs—all are tinted this season in tones of brilliant hues—may almost say flamboyance.

In neckwear especially bright colors are prescribed most arbitrarily. Bowties have the end and these offer a new note in the patterning as well as colors this spring. Instead of a predominance of floral effects as heretofore in this class of neckwear the designs run more to figures—conventional designs of black effects, subtle treatments and small geometric motifs.

These ties are not cut quite as low as in previous seasons and are ample in both knot and ends. The colors are bright—more or less solid in foundation colors but the designs patterns are in bright reds, yellows, greens, purples, lavenders and some pastel shades. There is much of the Oriental tones that have become so popular in women's dress and that will also be found in the neckwear for men.

Knot Ties Are Lifted.

Knot ties are again asserting themselves in most elaborate patterns—some so profusely interwoven with color that it is almost impossible to identify them as being of knitted weave. These ties also lean much toward the brighter effects in very much involved mixtures or bold blue stripes.

New to these come the granddads following in pattern effect the same trend as noted in the knit ties. Cravats are another new fabric that will find much favor as most of the designs have been developed in this character of tie. In fact it is anticipated as the season rumples along into summer that the cravats and these crapes will pretty much dominate the vogue.

Flat or cut silks and megadors will always find adherents and there will be no scarcity of these fabrics for those that prefer them, but in the main the man who knows his fashion guide will adopt the things we have emphasized above as the high lights of the season's neckwear styles.

In shirts the outstanding departure of the season is the collar-to-match shirt. Not the soft collar nor even the attached collar as in late seasons, but a stiff laundried collar with very intricate patterning of checks, crosses and even gingham motifs such as are sometimes seen in women's wash dresses. These of course, are for early Spring as when the hot weather comes men will hardly turn themselves with laundried collars except for evening dress wear.

Shirts in Solid Tones. Some of these shirts will also be seen in solid tones, of which the new "powder blue" is considered to be the faddest thing. To this we add the lighter pastel tones of soft tan, orchid, coral, helio, pale green and cream.

These effects will appear even stronger in the soft collar attached shirts as the season advances into the summer season and sport period.

Plain white, too, will begin to displace "tied" about this time. These plain white shirts will be large in self pattern effects of madras corded stripes, jacquards and broadcloths. In the patterned shirts neat stripes have the call. These are collared and many will be worn with new wing collar of laundried finish rather than the semi-soft which will retire somewhat during the early Spring and be revived when summer comes and its comfort giving properties will make their appeal. In these semi-soft collars many pique patterns are shown, but they are in the nature of a venture and their popularity is yet to be tested.

With the wing collars there is a tendency to return the bat wing ties and there is a strong indication that these bows will be widely worn, if the wing collar makes good the promise it reflected in the East during recent months.

Even Color in Hosiery. Hosiery is not to be the least of the color notes in a man's attire this season. While the fine plain color hosiery and silks will always be in the lead this season the younger men are turning with no indecision to very fancy effects—bold stripes, characterful mixtures and even outlandish block and checked patterns of the character of Scotch golf hose. These will be most in vogue and the softer fabrics while the silk hose will run to stripes and neat embroidered treatments.

Golf hose will run a very riot of color and design in wool, worsted light silk and camel's hair or brush-up textures.

Gloves in the lighter shades are preferred for Spring. Buckle charms and mochas via with the capeskins. Handkerchiefs evidence much color in borders and all over treatments.

Silk Belts Coming In.

A novelty venture of the season is the silk belts in handkerchief colors and patterns. Leather, however, will be more commonly worn with ornate engraved effects and the new belt-gram.

There is a very strenuous effort being made in some quarters to return the use of suspenders and this is meeting with some noticeable approval among well-dressed men who contend that only suspenders will hold the fuller longer trousers with a proper set.

Brimfull of Breeziness

SPRING hats to fit the face rather than just the head, appear as the dominating style in the new showings of men's headwear. The stylish hat this spring is the comfortable hat. It "sits" just right—looks even better than it feels. Above all, the contours provide a pleasing frame for the face.

Shapes, in many instances similar to those of the fall season, occupy prominent positions in the newest trend, while a considerable group of spring hats show a decided swing and curl of the brim which lends much vivacity to faces of certain types. Most of the shapes, however, are modeled on lines suitable to make any man enjoy their companionship.

Flexibility a Factor.

Flexibility combined with lightweight makes the new styles more comfortable, at the same time adapting themselves for many occasions such as outdoor sporting events. The flexibility of this vogue is also reflected in the summer straw, which strive for even lighter weight than their predecessors of a year ago. Cupping all is the style element which has been preserved to the highest degree.

Light colors still reign supreme among the spring blendings. There are plenty of pearl grays, smart tans and pea greens to lend variety sufficient for any choice. Bands harmonize with the colors of the felt used, while the alluring colored band appears to come in for its share of notoriety.

Cling to Conservative Lines.

Latest presentations appear to cling towards conservative lines, the Fedoras and Alpines shapes occupying the front positions among older men's hats as contrasted with the youthful tendency of diamond shapes and dented in styles. In the more exclusive social circles, the brim is turned down in front and side, or all the way around. The follower of outdoor sporting activities will find much recourse in many of the new styles.

Less of the risque and more of the conservative lines feature the plan of the summer straw. Shades are meeting a happier extreme along fewer ultra coloring. Most of the styles will be based on less radical blendings.

Light Sailor Straws.

Always recognized as an institution in summer headwear, the light sailor straw will most likely not the pace as this season's trend. Whites, light browns and tans hit the high spots in shades. Rough straws and loose weaves of exceedingly light texture assume the leadership of the showings, while the usual variety of novelty weavings will be heard from.

Plain black hatbands will be the keynote although accompanied by bands of varying tints to blend with the straw. Colored bands in many mixtures will also be seen, notwithstanding the fact that conservative dressers still outlaw this idea.

Old Standbys in Favor.

Old standbys, both Leghorns and Panamas, will again grace the head of older men and a few of the younger bloods. These, too, will pre dominate in highweights, with much in the well-liked Optimo shapes. For the ultra-conservative men there are good selections in Bangkok to follow with the vogue of the season.

While the topcoat is being worn many sprightly young men, and some of the older men will find the derby rendering a much wanted aristocratic touch. Like many other trends in men's fashions, the derby approaches simple lines with less and less of the odd-shaped creatures.

SPORT DETAILS

ACTIVITIES of the growing boy, usually along sport lines, find full expression in the new spring models in boys' clothes.

Like his dad, the youngster is the- ing of weird effects in his clothes and wants them plainer and more rugged. As the plain sack coat is displacing the Norfolk and belted back models of mature men, so the more conservative and sensible suit is displacing the "freak" and "Jazz" models of a few years back in boys' clothes.

It's An All-Around Suit.

The spring suit for the boy re- minds one of the story about the man who had a suit for every day of the week, and proudly exhibited the one suit in his possession. With the new styles, the boy can wear his suit equally well in the class room and to fulfill his social engagements. It is an all-around suit that fills every need.

While the junior Shetland will still attempt to cling to the spirited eccentric styles to win the hearts of their lovely quene, the more serious-minded fellow will find absolute contentment in the more conservative plainly fashioned suit. In fact, when many of these "Shetlands" inclined fellows see the beautifully tailored lines in the latest showings, they will discard the frills and pranks of last season's clothes.

English Styles in Vogue.

For the fellow who has just reached the age where he is ready to make that long-looked-for leap, from shorts to long, he will find a deli- cious selection of pure English styles to greet him. Sack coats with full cut trousers are just right for him, and that's what he'll get in the spring models. Lines followed are just the same as Dad wears—plenty of conservation combined with good look- ing tailoring.

Fabrics for both knicker suits and first long trousers favor tweeds of many weavings and patterns. While tweeds will be seen in abundance, there will also be plenty of neat striped patterns. There are enough patterns to give way to any individ- ual expression.

Wash Middies for Tots.

The small tots also get a big play for spring. As in former seasons the wash middy will be seen in many styles. These are made very prac- ticable by using strong, long wearing materials, to meet the requirements of restless boyhood, where there is no regard for clothes worn. Tommy Tucker and Oliver Twist suits again hold the stage in many mod- els, as well as a varied assortment of at- tractive colors and designs. There are also many styles in the one-piece suits with washable sateen waists and black and dark colored straight pants.

Juvenile headwear shows no de- cided style change, although there is a tendency to match wash suits with hats. Here again practicality holds sway, as the materials used are all washable. For boys, caps of tweed materials in colors to match the suits they wear, will be the vogue.

Cellar-Attached Shirts.

The boy has taken the lead set by his older college brother, and leans strictly towards the collar-attached shirt. These are shown in plain and pin-striped effects. Shoes also seem to follow out the precedent of older folks by showing many styles of the low shoe or oxford.

ONCE more the conservative note will be sung in the Men's Foot- wear song this spring. In fact the departures from a year ago are so insignificant as to be hardly notice- able.

The freaks and fads of other years particularly of the war days and post-war times—will be almost as scarce as electric light in darkest Africa. Shoe manufacturers have adopted saner views—the policy of simplification and standardization. As a result the industry is on a sound foundation, with costs slowly descending. This is due to the fact that the leather business was the last to take rise during the war and naturally follows the economic law of being the last to follow the descent.

Lower Costs to Consumer.

While materials have gone down in price during the last two or three years, nevertheless labor charges to main high, although there has been some decrease in the last twelve months. The result is noted in the slightly lowered costs to the ultimate consumer.

EASE IS THE DOMINANT NOTE IN

Hart Schaffner & Marx, Kuppenheimer & Fashion Park Spring Styles

There has never been a time when men's clothes were more sensible than they are for Spring 1924; or better looking.

These facts are worth telling and they're worth reading.

The new styles fit easily and hang informally. The whole idea is relaxation; the coats look relaxed—not snug nor stiff; they feel relaxed; the trousers are wider and more comfortable.

Men look better in such clothes because they seem to be so completely at ease and so unconscious of their clothes. The clothes wear better because there isn't so much strain on them.

You will find in the new models the double breasted suits; the four piece golf suit; styles that drape easily and those that suggest the waistline. They're good—not only in style but in all-wool quality.
